STATEMENT OF PROBABLE CAUSE

Complainant has investigated the facts and circumstances of this offense and believes the following establishes probable cause:

On March 1, 2020, Minneapolis Police officers were dispatched to an apartment complex located on the 700 block of 8th Avenue SE in Minneapolis, Hennepin County, Minnesota on the report of an attempted sexual assault. Officers responded and spoke with a known adult female, Victim herein. Victim reported that she was taking out the recycling when she was attacked. Victim stated that she went to the fenced garbage area and noticed an individual walking towards her. She figured it was just another resident, so she turned to dump her recyclables. When she did, she was attacked from behind. Victim described the assailant as a white male, approximately 30-40 years old with scruffy, greyish facial hair and a straight build who was wearing a black cloth jacket. This assailant was subsequently identified as JORY DANIEL WIEBRAND, DEFENDANT herein, by DNA evidence.

Victim stated that Defendant put one hand over her mouth and the other around her stomach preventing her from getting away. Victim stated that she started screaming and went limp, dropping on to her right hip. During the fall, Victim's glasses were knocked from her face and she sustained an abrasion to her cheek. Defendant also lost his balance and let go of Victim. Defendant then fled the scene. Victim ran to her apartment and 911 was called.

Officers took a swabbing of Victim's face and male DNA was located. This Y-chromosomal profile was compared against Defendant's known sample and found to match.
